Susan moved to a new house with her parents in August. Soon the summer holidays were coming to the end with only four days before school started. "I'm nervous about the first day of school, Mom." Susan said. "Why are you nervous?" asked her mom. "I don't know any kids. I don't want to be alone on the first day." Susan said.

The next day, Susan called her friend Fiona from her old school. She told Fiona her problem. Fiona said another girl from their school moved to the same neighborhood as Susan. "Her name is Linda. She lives on Brook Street. Isn't that near your house?" asked Fiona. "Yes, it is two streets behind my house," replied Susan. "I'll give Linda your address and you two can meet up before school starts," said Fiona.

After Susan talked with Fiona, she felt relaxed. She told her mom Fiona's friend Linda would stop by.

Two days before school started, Linda came to Susan's home. "Are you Susan?" asked Linda. "Fiona told me to come by and meet you since we will be new at the school." "It's good to meet someone before school starts," said Susan. "I agree. At least we will know each other until we meet more kids," said Linda.

That night, Susan called Fiona again and thanked her for helping out. "You're welcome, and good luck at your new school," said Fiona.

- C. She moved to the street near Susan's house.
- D. She came to Susan's home before school started.

C

People must have water to live. Without water, your body would stop working well. Water makes up more than half of your body weight, and people can't live for more than a few days without it. Your body has lots of jobs and it needs water to do many of them.

You might wonder how much water you should drink every day. There is no magic amount(量)of water for kids to drink every day. The amount depends on (取决于)the kid's age, body size, health, and activity level (水平) and other things.

Usually, kids drink something with meals and they drink when they are thirsty (口渴的)But if you are sick, or when you are out in bad weather or while you are playing sports or exercising, you will need more. So if you are going to have sports practice, play a game, or just work out or play hard, drink water before, during, and after playing. You can't play your best when you are thinking about how thirsty you are!

When your body doesn't have enough water, it can make you not as sharp as you'd like to be. It may take you longer time to think about questions and answer them, So keep your water bottle handy. You can help your body by drinking before you are thirsty. Your body will be able to do all its wonderful jobs and you will feel great!

27. Paragraph 2 is mainly about _____.

- A. ways to drink water
- B. the importance of water
- C. water drinking habits
- D. some problems of water

28. The underlined word "sharp" in Paragraph 5 probably means _____.

- A. tired of learning things
- B. quick to understand things
- C. worried a lot about yourself
- D. interested in helping other

29. What can we learn from the passage!

- A. We need to know the magic amount of water to drink every day.
- B. It is common for us to drink more water in cold weather.
- C. We should drink less water when we do sports with our friends.
- D. It is a good habit to carry water bottle with us when we go out.

Kevin is a middle school student. He enjoys all kinds of music and music is part of his life. He listens to music when he reads books, has meals and does sports. Like many other kids, his earphones are pretty much always on and the volume is high. He doesn't know loud music hurts his ears.

When you are listening to loud music on earphones, do your parents ever complain? Maybe they once told you, "Turn that down before you go deaf!" well, they have a point and it is necessary (必要的) for them to tell you this. Loud noise can lead to hearing loss. Enjoying music is great, but listening at high volume is not.

Part of the inner ear has hair cells (细胞) When loud noise hurts the hair cells, it leads to hearing damage (损坏) If the sound is too loud, it can hurt your hearing almost instantly.

If you listen to music on earphones at high volume every day, it will also hurt your hearing. This damages the hair cells in the ear over a period (一段时间) of time, and the hearing loss happens gradually (逐渐地).

When you listen to music, remember to turn down the volume, especially when you are wearing earphones. It is not safe to listen to music at high volume. Make sure you can still hear others' talking when you are listening to music on earphones. You may also need to give your ears a rest by not wearing earphones all the time.

- 30 Kevin is an example to show _____.
- A. listening to music helps many kids learn better
 - B. many kids listen to loud music on earphones
 - C. there are many ways for kids to enjoy music
 - D. earphones are very useful for kids
31. Hearing damage happens when _____.
- A. the inner ear has new hair cells
 - B. there are different cells in the inner ear
 - C. loud noise hurts the hair cells in the inner ear
 - D. the hair cells in the inner ear get bigger instantly
32. The writer may agree _____.
- A. listening to music is not a good habit for kids
 - B. there is no need for parents to tell their kids to turn the music down
 - C. kids should talk with others when they are listening to music
 - D. it is important for kids to listen to music at safe volume
38. What is the writer's main purpose in writing this passage?
- A. To encourage us to listen to music on earphones.
 - B. To tell us the importance of earphones.
 - C. To ask us to protect our hearing.
 - D. To explain the reasons for hearing loss.

第二部分

四、阅读表达(第 34-36 题每题 2 分, 第 37 题 4 分, 共 10 分)

阅读短文, 根据短文内容回答问题。

Volunteering means spending some of your time helping others. You can volunteer to do lots of different things.

When you volunteer, you help others and you help yourself! Volunteering gives you the chance (可能性) to make a difference. You can feel good about taking action to make the world better.

When you volunteer, you can try something new. For example, clean up a park or write cards to kids in the hospital. You will probably even get to meet new people with same interests

Volunteering also gives you a chance to practice being responsible (负责的). When you are a volunteer, you learn to work hard because people need you to do something important.

It is best for kids to volunteer with their class or their family. You can clean up a park or plant trees and flowers in your community. You can also clean up a public building for an environmental group.

Many organizations (机构) need volunteers. You can ask your teachers or your friends for ideas. Your parents or other family members may have ideas, too. Kids often start by working on a volunteer project with their parents. So, what are you waiting for? Make a plan to start volunteering today!

34. What does volunteering mean?
35. Why do you learn to work hard when you are volunteering?
36. Who should kids volunteer with?

37. What do you think of volunteering? Why do you think so? (Please give two reasons.)
